This is a fictional account from a friend, and fellow soldier, concerning the lives of Custer, his family members, and the soldiers who shared his life and his death at the Battle Of Little Big Horn. It follows Custer's life from childhood through the Civil War where he was the youngest brigadier general in both arms. It then follows Custer through his days fighting on the high plains, as well as detailing the path of the 7th Cavalry in South Carolina reconstruction times. And at last it shows those who mourned the deaths of Custer, his brothers, and his soldiers.
