Learn from the stars and superstars you daily see on TV. They seem to have everything a man or woman could possibly desire: money, power, influence, popularity, assets and properties, fancy cars, private jets, luxurious attire, beautiful partner, businesses, assistants and staff, crowd of fans. They sign contracts which are worth hundreds or even thousands times of your monthly salary and can go to the best and craziest parties overnight that where they spend more than the best car you can afford in your entire life time.

However, behind those perfect lives also lie some problems. The same problems as ours!

Deep down in their hearts, most people never feel satisfied with their lives. You and I, and everyone else who lives in this world always want to achieve more than what we have already accomplished. We never get enough; never feel contented of the saving we have in our accounts, or even the clothes we store in our wardrobe. Some people may have the best partner they can share their life with, yet still dream about having an affair or one-night-stand with someone else. Others may think that you have a brilliant career, but you think of quitting your job to get a better one. You may also envy your best friends for you think that they have it better than you do. Those are proofs that human beings need to do so many efforts to fill their lives to be meaningful in their own distinctive definitions.

On the other hand, there are really small groups of the population who behave, think, and ultimately feel differently from most people, who choose to face this world differently, who always feel the contentment of everything, who can finally achieve the very reason of this life—to be happy. In this book you will learn their secrets.
