The Master Colm Toibin

Like Michael Cunningham in "The Hours," Colm Toibin captures the extraordinary mind and heart of a great writer. Brilliant and profoundly moving, "The Master" tells the story of Henry James, a man born into one of America's first intellectual families two decades before the Civil War. James left his country to live in Paris, Rome, Venice, and London among privileged artists and writers. In stunningly resonant prose, Toibin captures the loneliness and longing, the hope and despair of a man who never married, never resolved his sexual identity, and whose forays into intimacy inevitably failed him and those he tried to love. The emotional intensity of Toibin's portrait of James is riveting. Time and again, James, a master of psychological subtlety in his fiction, proves blind to his own heart and incapable of reconciling his dreams of passion with his own fragility. Toibin is "a great and humanizing writer" who describes complex relationships in "supple, beautifully modulated prose" ("The Washington Post Book World"). In "The Master," he has written his most ambitious and heartbreaking novel, an extraordinarily inventive encounter with a character at the cusp of the modern age, elusive to his own friends and even family, yet astonishingly vivid in these pages.

Richard Jimenez:

As a university student exactly feel bored for you to reading. If their teacher requested them to go to the library or to make summary for some e-book, they are complained. Just small students that has reading's spirit or real their leisure activity. They just do what the teacher want, like asked to go to the library. They go to at this time there but nothing reading critically. Any students feel that examining is not important, boring as well as can't see colorful pics on there. Yeah, it is to get complicated. Book is very important for you personally. As we know that on this period, many ways to get whatever we would like. Likewise word says, many ways to reach Chinese's country. So , this The Master can make you feel more interested to read.
